

Colloquium on the Relation between Grammar and Pragmatics

This colloquium aims to provide an informal forum for in-depth discussion of important issues concerning the relation between grammar and pragmatics such as metaphor, time, frames of reference, deixis, perspective, subjectivity, performativity, and interpersonal management. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

Date: Thursday, July 25, 2013

Time: 1:45 p.m. – 5:45 p.m.

Venue: Room 1B403, Area 1

Speakers & Presentations:

Kevin Moore (San José State University)

“Temporal Frames of Reference and Temporal Concepts”

Yukio Hirose (University of Tsukuba)

“Temporal Metaphors and Subjectivity: A Contrastive Study of Japanese and English from the Perspective of the Three-Tier Model of Language Use”

Keita Ikarashi (University of Tsukuba)

“The Function of the Performative Clause I Tell You and the Three-Tier Model of Language Use”

Contact Information: Yukio Hirose, Literature & Linguistics

Email: hirose.yukio.ft@u.tsukuba.ac.jp

(This colloquium is supported by a Grant-in-Aid for Scientific Research (B) (24320088).)