

Colloquium on the Relation between Grammar and Pragmatics II

This colloquium aims to provide an informal forum for in-depth discussion of important issues such as the relations between construction grammar and pragmatics, causality and pragmatics, inference and pragmatics, and tense and pragmatic interpretations. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

Date: Thursday, July 10, 2014

Time: 1:45 p.m. – 6:00 p.m.

Venue: Room A101, Humanities and Social Sciences Building, Area 1,

Speakers & Presentations:

Yukio Hirose (Chair, University of Tsukuba)

Bert Cappelle (University of Lille III)

“Constructions and Pragmatics”

Masaru Kanetani (University of Tsukuba)

“On the Because X Construction”

Shotaro Namiki (University of Tsukuba)

“‘Path Coercion’ in Japanese: A Case Study of Ballistic Motion Verbs with Goal -ni Phrases in Adnominal Clauses”

Naoaki Wada (University of Tsukuba)

“The English Simple Present Form and Its Interpretations: A Revisit”

Contact Information: Yukio Hirose, Literature & Linguistics

Email: hirose.yukio.ft@u.tsukuba.ac.jp

(This colloquium is supported by a Grant-in-Aid for Scientific Research (B) (24320088).)