TABLE OF CONTENTS

Articles

Semantics and Pragmatics

Hiromitsu Akashi: Some Remarks on the Benefactive Ditransitive Construction ........................................3
Toyoko Amagawa: DO+NP Constructions ..........................................................19
Kunihiro Hashimoto: Metarepresentational Motivation: The Grammaticalization of the Verb of Saying ge- in Mongolian .................................................................35
Mikio Hashimoto: On the GAIWO Alternation in Japanese Passives ..................51
Taichi Hirota: Ga as a Marker for Topic-Establishment .....................................65
Katsuo Ichinohe: An Essay on the Segmentation of Situation in Japanese ..............81
Seizi Iwata: He Jumped to His Feet: Internal Motion and Internal Path ..............89
Masahiro Kato: Exhaustiveness Implicature of It-clefs and WH-clefs in Discourse ...101
Yuko Kobukata: Passivizability of Verbs of Possession ....................................117
Hiroaki Konno: The If You Be Construction as a Case of Syntax/Semantics Mismatch .....131
Manabu Kusayama: HAVE-relation and English Ditransitive Constructions ..........145
Noriko Nemoto: A Frame-Based Description of the Polysemy of Dab .................161
Shuichi Takeda: The Discourse Semantics of Visual Perception and Knowledge ........177
Toshihiro Tamura: On Causative and Experiential HAVE Constructions ...............191
Masanobu Ueda: A Usage-based Analysis of the English Ditransitive Construction ....205
Takashi Yoshida: Made and Metalinguistic Negation in Japanese .....................221

Syntax

Yoshio Endo: Two Approaches to Adverbs: Cinque vs. Ernst ..................................235
Shinsuke Homma: Derivation of the Experiencer Subject of Transitive Verbs ........247
Joe Morita: The IAEX and the Nature of External Arguments .............................263
Kazuo Nakasawa: Grammatical Naturalization and a Mode of Extension .............273
Toshifusa Oka: VP-Internal Movement ..........................................................279
Yuji Takano: On the Syntactic Structure of Japanese Accusative Causatives ........295
Shoichi Tanaka: Notes on Small Clause Predication .........................................311
Shin Watanabe: Simple Questions in Japanese Are Not That Simple ..................325

Phonology

Koji Ono: On Deriving Three Types of Onbin Changes in Japanese Verbs ..........343
Hideki Zamma: Allomorphy, Spirantization, and Palatalization in English: with or without Geometry .................................................................371

Other Topics

Kenji Kanno: Kanno's Prediction: Logical Structure in Critical Period of Native Language Acquisition ..................................................................................................................387
Masao Okazaki: The Form and Meaning of Bob Dylan's Blown in the Wind ........................................391

Summaries of the Papers Read at the Twenty-third Annual Meeting of the Tsukuba English Linguistic Society

Momoko Kodaira and Hiromitsu Akashi: On the Intonation of Sentence Adverbials in English .................................................................409
Masaru Kanetani, Hiroaki Konno, and Seong-Sik Chae: On Conjunctions of Reason 411
Mina Kasai, Shoichi Yamada, and Yukiko Arita: On Discourse Markers Introducing Modifications .......................................................................413
Yuko Kobukata: Passivizability of Possess .................................................................415

Appendix

Tsukuba English Studies vols. 1-21 Indices .................................................................419