

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Articles

Yukio Hirose: Predication-Based vs. Domain-Based Comparison: A Contrastive Study of Comparative Constructions in English and Japanese.....	1-25
Akihiko Sakamoto: A Note on the Grammatical Status of Nani : The Marked Use of the Unmarked Wh -Phrase in Japanese.....	27-40
Kakeru Yazawa: Prosodic Manifestation of Question Tags in Japanese Speakers' English.....	41-50
Keita Ikarashi and Patrick Maher: Cicada Lacks a Public Self: Characterization and the Public/Private Dichotomy.....	51-64
Koichi Nishida: Two Types of Proverbs and Self-Reference in Terms of Normative Expressions.....	65-78
Shiro Takeuchi: On the Presence or Absence of Expletive Voice in English.....	79-91
Shin-ichi Tanigawa: Root Phenomena under the Labeling Theory: Consequences of External Pair-Merge of C and T.....	93-110
Shuto Yamamura: A Corpus Study on the Historical Development of Split Coordinated Subjects in English.....	111-135
Takashi Yoshida: A Three-Tier Model Analysis of Self-introduction with a Title in English.....	137-146
Takashi Ishida and Ryohei Naya: A Map Talks to You in English but Not in Japanese: The Description of Human-Thing Interaction by Public and Private Self.....	147-169
Naoaki Wada: Be Going To and Aller : A Temporal Structure Approach.....	171-203
Masao Okazaki: The Metrical Significance of Old English Unstressed Prefixes in Alliterative Verse.....	205-229
Masatoshi Honda: On the Syntax and Information Structure of Polarity Inversion in English: A Reconsideration from the Viewpoint of Additive Focus.....	231-252
Masanobu Ueda: On the Prototypicality of the Ditransitive Verb Send : In Comparison with Give and Other Ditransitive Verbs.....	253-265
Masaru Kanetani: On the Relation Between Richness of Ideophones and Private-Self-Centeredness: A Comparison of Japanese and English.....	267-287

Mikinari Matsuoka: On Perfect Auxiliary Selection in Earlier English, Norwegian, and Japanese .....	289-298
Yuichi Ono: How to Measure Implicit Knowledge: Methodological Issues in the Second Language Acquisition Research.....	299-315
Yuko Kobukata: Semantic Functions of Noun Phrases in Possessive Constructions.....	317-331
Shohei Nagata: The Choice of Q-Particles in Japanese and Their Focal Interpretations: With Special Reference to Yes–No Questions.....	333-356
Kazuyoshi Ishikawa: On the Behavior of Peculiar Passives in English: From the Perspective of the Characterization Mode.....	357-375
Yukihiro Kanda: It Seems Like Richard Is in Trouble : Is the Subject It an Expletive? .....	377-395
Takeshi Kato: A Note on the Acquisition Process of L2 English Definite Article: Toward a Feature Reassembly Account.....	397-420
Takuto Kimura: Notes on Nominalized Phrasal Verbs: A Distributed Morphology Approach to the Difference in Productivity Between Gerunds and Nongerunds.....	421-433
Haruka Shimura: The Relation of Situation Types to the Present Perfect and the Present Perfect Progressive: A Consideration Based on the Temporal Structures .....	435-464
Naoki Nakamura: Notes on the Elliptic Account of Extraposition from Unergative Subject	465-478

Summaries of the Papers Read at the 41th Annual Meeting of the Tsukuba English Linguistic Society

Hirofumi Sakai: A Construction Grammar Account of the Subject of Gerund-Participle Complements in English.....	481-493
Yuri Togano: On the Right-Hand Headedness in English Morphology: With Special Reference to Verbal Prefixation.....	495-503
Naoki Nakamura: On the (Im)possibility of Adjunct Extraposition from Subject in English: The QR-and-Late-Merge Approach.....	505-519
Yuki Okada, Takuto Kimura, Takeshi Kato, and Yukihiro Kanda: A Reconsideration of “Conversion” under Radical Construction Grammar.....	521-535

Shin Tamura, Haruka Shimura, Kazuyoshi Ishikawa, and Shohei Nagata: A Construction Approach to the Binominal Noun Phrase in English: With Special Reference to a Semantic Relation Between the Two Nouns.....	537-552
---	---------

Appendix

Tsukuba English Studies vols. 1-39 Indexes.....	555-568
---	---------